Germans Are Giving Up Meekly Except Inside Czechoslovakia

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

A great many of you folks recall those white crosses that were erected along the highways where fatal accidents had occurred, back under Vic Donahey's administration as governor.

The white crosses were about three feet in height and they soon became so numerous that as a result of public demand, they were ordered removed and within a few days after the order was issued, the highways were free of the ominous reminders of death.

The idea of the white wooden crosses was to impress upon the motoring public the dangers of carelessness in operating motor vehicles and pointing out the danger spots on the highways.

I remember at one dangerous railroad crossing in Vinton County there was a flock of the crosses indicated the number of persons killed at that point.

As many fatal accidents occurred on straight-away sections of the highway, the crosses were placed at spots where one would never think of a fatal accident taking place.

Dozens of the crosses were located in Fayette County and since that time dozens of additional traffic fatalities have taken place within the county. If the practice of marking spots of fatal accidents had been continued, the number of crosses along the roads in Fayette County alone would be sufficient to give the average motorist the "creeps."

I'll say one thing; those innumerable white crosses certainly kept the motorist aware that death lurked everywhere along the highways, regardless of sharp turns, intersections, railroad crossings and narrow bridges.

THREE IN FAMILY KILLED IN ACTION

Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennewitz Slain

CHILLICOTHE, O., May 11.—(AP)—Fireman 2-C William Dennewitz, 18, has been reported killed in action, just two weeks after his parents asked his reassignment to a safe post because two of his brothers died in battle.

Pfc. John, 24, was killed in France July 18, 1944, and Cpl. James, 23, was killed in Germany last April 15. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Dennewitz, three sisters and five younger brothers survive.

Remnants of Nazi Fleet Now In Allied Hands and Forces In Isolated Sections and Islands Have Surrendered—Norway Calming Down—Collaborationists Paying for Treason

By TOM OCHILTREE
(By the Associated Press)

A pincer by three Russian armies was closing today upon a pocket of die-hard Nazi fanatics who fought on in Czechoslovakia in defiance of Germany's unconditional surrender.

Milling about in a 4,000-square mile area, the Germans were reported moving toward American lines through a narrowing escape gap between Prague and Caslav, 42 miles to the east.

These Germans are commanded by Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, wanted on war crimes charges, and Col. Gen. Woehler. The assault against them has been launched on broad fronts by the First, Second and Fourth Ukrainian armies.

Give Up Elsewhere
Elsewhere in Europe the Germans were giving up docilely. Remnants of their beaten fleet were in Allied hands, including the cruisers Prinz Eugen and Nuernberg, which had shelled Copenhagen over the week end.

German garrisons in the Dodecanese Islands and Crete, totaling 20,000 men, have surrendered. The Soviet High Command announced the capture of 209,060 Germans, including 26 Nazi generals, along the Russian front. In Austria mop up units of the Third Ukrainian Army linked with the British Eighth Army from Italy west of Graz.

Another Meeting
London newspapers speculated that President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin might meet soon to discuss European postwar problems. The papers disagreed, however, as to where such a meeting might be held.

A dispatch from the U. S. Third Army front said Konrad Henlein, Gauleiter of the Sudetenland, committed suicide in a prisoner cage yesterday by slashing his wrists with a razor blade.

In Italy, Prince Umberto, lieutenant general of the realm, has been warned by a Socialist member of the Committee of National Liberation that he might be executed if he returned to Milan.

Addressing a Socialist mass meeting, Sandro Pertini declared: "Let all men responsible for our ruin know that there is a Piazza Loreto in Milan. The Piazza Loreto is where the bodies of Mussolini and other Fascists were displayed."

Yanks Await Reds The road to Prague was wide open for the American Third Army, but they pulled up short and failed to go in—despite pleas from the Prague radio reporting the sacking of the Czech capital by die-hard Nazi SS troops.

The Yanks were halted by a "restraining line," apparently previously agreed upon by the Russian and American commands. It failed to make sense to the Doughboys and tankmen, for Brig. Gen. John Pierce's 16th Armored Division, which had raced 100 miles from Nuernberg to Pilsen in 24 hours, was raring to go on to Prague.

While Pilsen was being liberated by the Americans May 6, patriots who seized the Prague radio kept sending out appeals to the Americans. Patriots who came 80 miles from Prague to Pilsen confirmed reports of Nazi carnage in the capital.

But the 16th stayed at Pilsen—because it was told to stay. It could have gone on just as easily as it got to Pilsen from Nuernberg.

The Russians finally announced the liberation of Prague May 9.

This was disclosed yesterday when OPA enforcement attorneys filed suspension actions against four meat dealers—two wholesaler and two retailers—on charges of possessing and using counterfeits.

Planes Lay Mines in All Major Japanese Harbors

Mikado's Warlords Plead for Support of People Even as Superforts Blast Homelands Again—Showdown Believed Shaping Up on Okinawa Where Yank Casualties Reach 16,425 and 38,857 Nips Killed

By LEONARD MILLMAN
(By the Associated Press)

Mines strewn by Superfortresses in every major port of Japan furnished new hazards today for the Imperial navy and merchant marine, both already pared to a fraction of pre-war strength by U. S. planes, warships and submarines.

The Twentieth Bomber Command disclosed that B-29's, in history's greatest aerial mine-laying operations, have planted floating explosives in Tokyo Bay, the Inland Sea, Singapore Harbor and other former havens of Japanese shipping. The most frequently used waterways were described as "polluted" by American-laid mines.

The "largest single mining operation ever undertaken by air-planes" occurred late in March when the 21st Bomber Command, based in the Marianas, mined coastal waters of western Japan in support of the American landing on Okinawa.

In January, 20th Bomber Command B-29's flew from bases in

SURRENDER PREDICTED
MANILA, May 11.—(AP)—A lieutenant commander in the Japanese navy who surrendered recently to U. S. Sixth Division troops said today he believed Japan would surrender in the near future.

India to conduct large-scale mining operations in the Singapore area.

Some American troop units already are on their way to French ports and headed for the Pacific war under the redeployment program, it was disclosed here today.

The first combat troops from Europe, however, are not likely to reach the Pacific theater in much under six months.

The first to go are service troops needed to prepare the way for the flow of combat veterans who helped defeat Germany.

Beside the service units already on the move, others have been alerted, Brig. Gen. G. S. Eyster, acting deputy chief of staff, said.

Preparations for the shift began last August, he said.

Service troops already are trained and mostly will go to the Pacific direct, but combat troops will need to be retrained and most will go through the United States.

Japan tried to strengthen its political position in threatened corners of its crumbling empire today as some 200 Superforts thundered over six targets on the home islands in a daily preview of predicted 2,000 plane raids against Nippon.

All Tokyo spokesmen appeared to agree there was "no alternative" for the Mikado's war lords but to continue fighting despite slow attrition of their armed forces on every island front and a threatened debacle in China.

Showdown on Okinawa
A determined U. S. offensive against Naha, Okinawa's capital city, was shaping up today after the Sixth Marine Division bridged the Asa River estuary despite efforts of two Japanese human bombs to blow up the span.

Another wide river—the Asato—stands before Naha as a natural barrier to American troops. Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Marine Division, the third fresh division thrown into the fray, cave-in forced southern front in a week, forced the crossing of the Asa in darkness early yesterday.

Elsewhere along southern front, Marines and Doughboys made "limited gains" yesterday, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today. He announced these other developments:

Japanese casualties through Wednesday total 38,857 killed, an increase of 2,322 in two days. American casualties through Monday were 16,425, including 2,684 dead, in ground fighting.

Casualties on Iwo Jima total 23,244 killed and 1,038 captured.

Island Evacuated
A light naval force evacuated 494 Marshallese natives from Jaluit atoll in the Marshall Islands in a daring rescue effected while Japanese counterattacked the natives were taken to U. S. controlled Marshall Islands.

Japanese aircraft resumed their attacks on America's Okinawa yesterday, damaging two fleet forces late Wednesday and early today.

They came in proud and arrogant, unconvinced they were beaten. They had backtracked 1,400 miles from El Alamein. The British and American forces had pushed them to the sea controlled by Allied ships. With their supply lines cut the Nazis had yielded.

But these young Nazis regarded the lost Africa as only a small gamble.

"What is Africa to us?" they asked when you talked to them. "We still have Europe. We shall always have it. You will never be able to break into Europe through our Fuehrer's West Wall."

That was two years ago. Today there is no corner of their "Fath-erland" that is not under Allied control.

It was a far different German column that marched from Prague to Pilsen after the windup of the last major fighting in Europe. Women and children were in this long line. Whole German fami-

Plan No Wage Change During Reconversion

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—Today, Price Administrator Chester Bowles will disclose his plan at a news conference for pricing commodities which war forced to the side lines to make room for munitions.

A proposal by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) that congress lift wage controls and ease price restrictions next January 1 met Democratic objections that it is too early to consider such steps.

In outlining WLB's wage program, Chairman George W. Taylor emphasized to a news conference that the board's task is to avert a decline as well as a rise in wages.

Most of the tough work in revising pay schedules for plants shifting entirely or partially to civilian goods production, he said, will rest on employers and unions.

These schedules may be put into effect by June 1.

Two Portsmouth Men Injured In Plane Crash

PORTSMOUTH, O., May 11.—(AP)—Two Portsmouth youths were in a hospital today for a checkup after stunt flying and then crashing a trainer plane which they took up without the owner's permission.

H. Coleman Grimes, owner and manager of the Raven Rock Airport near here, said the 16-year-old pilot, a part-time employee at the field, took the plane. His companion, 18, was a merchant marine home on leave.

Grimes said he would not prefer the charges until he inspected his plane, which he valued at $2,000.

SUGGESTS BUSINESS CONSULTANT GROUP

Ohioan Offers New 'Balance' Wheel for Congress

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A business consultant recommended today creation of a new advisory commission to help chart a $50,000,000 job postwar economy.

Carlton Koeppe, of Sandusky, Ohio, told the joint committee studying revision of congressional methods, that such a staff should be drawn from management, labor and the consumers.

"These experienced advisers would serve as a balance wheel to assist congress in composing the differences of the pressure groups or blocs," he said in prepared testimony.

GATE IS OPENED BY PROPOSAL AT SECURITY MEET

U. S. Plan for Occupation of Germany and Suppress Underground Outlined

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—(AP)—An American proposal to try organizations as well as individuals for war crimes was interpreted today as opening a legal road for the use of forced labor in rebuilding war devastated Europe.

The proposition was reported receiving favorable consideration from representatives of Britain, Russia and France here for the United Nations Conference.

Acting as the personal representative of President Truman, Judge Samuel I. Rosenman worked with Secretary of State Stettinius in discussing the program with foreign ministers and their aides.

The plan calls for organization of an International Military Tribunal to try the major individuals and organizations accused of atrocities and war crimes in Europe.

State Department officials explained that presumably the Nazi party or any of its adjuncts—and conceivably the German army—could be charged before such a court with war crimes. If the organizations were convicted, the members would become subject to penalties.

President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin agreed at Yalta to exact reparations in kind from the Germans. These may include the use of forced Nazi labor, as well as the dismantling and transfer of German plants to the devastated Allied areas.

U. S. OCCUPATION PLAN
WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A special intelligence section to detect and "ruthlessly" suppress any Nazi underground activities will be part of the United States military government in the American occupation zone of Germany.

This was disclosed today in a War Department announcement of plans for the United States group which will form part of the Allied four-power control council for Germany. The American unit will be divided into 12 major divisions, corresponding generally to the ministries of the German Central government.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be the United States representative on the council.

Lt. Gen. Lucius Clay will serve as deputy to Eisenhower and also will be "deputy military governor for Germany," the department said. Clay, a West Pointer, was attached to the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion until last month, when he was transferred to Supreme Allied headquarters.

The announcement said that United States army, navy and air forces had perfected in coordination with the British, Russians and French a "coordinated program to impose a stern military government over all of Germany and to carry out the policies agreed upon at Yalta." It did not define the area of American occupation.

Each of the 12 divisions will share responsibility in purging all public agencies and industries of Nazis, but the overall intelligence section, "answerable directly to General Clay, will maintain general supervision of the entire denazification program," the department said.

REGIONAL PLAN COMMISSION IS ESTABLISHED

Fayette County Represented On Group After Meeting In Chillicothe

Fayette County will be represented on a regional postwar planning committee, the foundations of which were laid at a meeting in Chillicothe Thursday night. Robert E. Willis, county engineer, will represent Fayette County on the temporary committee. A permanent organization will be set up at another meeting scheduled in the future. The Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the meeting—first evolved the idea of a regional commission and, to that end, invited representatives of 15 counties to the Thursday meeting. Willis reported the proposed Fayette County projects—a hospital, road construction, airport and the park. Every county represented included an artificial lake in its postwar plans, it was pointed out.

Attending the dinner meeting from here were, besides Willis, Ray Brandenburg, Fred Rost and Stanley Paxson, Fayette County's representative to the Ohio legislature. State representatives and senators from all the counties were present. In discussing the lake projects, the county representatives said that the thousands of untillable land could be converted into tourist centers for postwar prosperity. Plans for the organization meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here next Wednesday night at the Country Club are progressing according to schedule, it was announced today. Tickets for the dinner at the Country Club may be purchased from any of the old board of directors or from Albert Bryant, the secretary of the chamber of commerce, at the First National Bank.

MEMORIAL PARADE PLANNED BY LEGION

Servicemen on Furlough To March May 30

Every serviceman home on furlough and every discharged serviceman in uniform will be marching in the annual Memorial Day parade May 30 if the American Legion's plans are carried out.

The parade, headed by the high school band in uniform, will begin at 10 A. M., it was decided at the Legion meeting Thursday night. In asking all discharged servicemen to march in uniform, it was pointed out wearing uniforms after a discharge was permitted.

The Legion also will sponsor the Gooding carnival here at the old Fairgrounds the week of May 21. A new gas restaurant-style stove also is to be installed in the Legion Home kitchen.

MRS. J. A. CRAWFORD CLAIMED BY DEATH

Highly Respected Resident Dies Thursday

Mrs. Emily C. Crawford, widow of James A. Crawford, passed away in White Cross Hospital, early Thursday afternoon, where she was taken Wednesday afternoon for observation and possible operation due to a serious ailment from which she had suffered for some time.

Mrs. Crawford was a lifelong resident of Washington C. H. and a member of one of the city's foremost families, and her death comes as a severe blow to relatives and a wide circle of friends.

She had always been a prominent and active member of the First Presbyterian Church and a woman of high ideals and rare artistic talent, being especially gifted in the painting of chinaware, having studied under one of the best teachers in this part of the nation.

Her charitable work, little known to the public, was extensive, and brought happiness and pleasure to all who came within its scope.

She was a woman of rare understanding, and marked ability, who always took pride in the better things of life, and assisted in worthy movements for betterment of the community.

Mrs. Crawford is survived by one sister, Mrs. E. F. Kinnear, and the two sisters had resided together in Washington C. H. for many years.

Also surviving are two nieces, Mrs. Harry Erickson, of Columbus, and Mrs. Ruth Carlson, of Dayton.

Funeral services will be held at her late residence, 219 North Main Street, Monday at 2:30 P. M., conducted by Rev. George B. Parkin, assisted by Rev. John K. Abernethy followed by interment in the family lot in the Washington C. H. cemetery, under direction of the Cox and Parrett funeral home.

Friends will be received at the home, North Main Street, after noon Saturday.

One Czech mother who saw this wasn't very sympathetic. "It is bad that any children have to cry," she said. "But if some children must cry it is the turn of German children. They will be hungry at most for only a few hours. But our Czech children have had to do without proper food for six years. There were oranges for German children in Czechoslovakia, but none for Czech children. It is our turn."

COUNTERFEIT RED POINTS FLOODING NORTHERN OHIO AS OPA PRESSES PROBE

Williams told the committee auditors were checking records of slaughters in his Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia region whose business has skyrocketed during the current meat shortage.

The check, he said, would be completed in 19 days. The investigation of Cleveland area slaughters began two weeks ago with the discovery that false food points were circulating in the city.

Two dealers charged yesterday, OPA attorneys said, admitted purchasing quantities of points they said they thought genuine. One reported paying $6.50 a thousand for a package supposed to contain 20,000 but which actually only included 15,000 he added.

In his letter, Williams said the Regional OPA office had filed nine criminal actions against alleged black marketeers and 20 injunction suits against slaughterers who, he claimed, failed to keep proper records.

The northern three-fourths of Okinawa is considered secure.

Chinese army spokesmen reported that a sweeping Chinese counteroffensive has trapped thousands of Japanese and killed off at least a third of the 80,000 invaders who began driving toward the U. S. Chihkiang air base in western China a month ago. He said Nipponese reserves were thrown into the lines as Chinese columns closed a pincers 40 miles from Paoching, main springboard of the abortive Japanese offensive.

Japs Breaking Down
Japanese broadcasts reported political prisoners would be released in Thailand, civilian support was asked in Sumatra to "consolidate the wartime structure," and the Mikado's ambassador to Indo-China had been called home hurriedly for conferences.

Such political moves might be to strengthen the defensive position of virtually isolated armies in these territories. Or they might be forerunners to peace moves.

Superforts following up yesterday's initial and successful 400 plane raid against Japan's home island oil supply sources, struck in three waves today. The heaviest blow was against the Kawanishi seaplane plant near Kobe, Japan's largest. The two other strikes were directed against Kyushu Island.

Simultaneously the 20th Air Force reported photographs showed previous raids had knocked out about 80 percent of the two Hiro naval aircraft factories near Kure and the Tachikawa air engine plant in the Tokyo area.

In London, Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who led the first air raid on Tokyo, predicted 2,000 plane raids would be launched against Japan as the volume of air power shifting from Europe increased.

There was no further report of an isolated American battalion on Mindanao Island of the southern Philippines, where other 24th Division units were systematically reducing Japanese strongpoints.

The 31st was "rapidly consolidating its advances" inland. The mountain-fighting 43rd was closing in on Ipa dam, a major source of Manila's water.

Australian troops penetrated the southern edge of Djoeata oil field on Tarakan, off Borneo, and killed 1,393 Japanese in scattered actions in the Solomons, New Britain and New Guinea.

JUDGE RULES OWNER OUT OF OWN HOUSE

CLEVELAND, May 11—(AP)—A landlord wishing to occupy a home built with government priorities cannot evict a war-worker tenant to do so, says Federal District Judge Paul Jones.

Judge Jones so ruled yesterday as he granted the War Production

Board a temporary injunction pending the entry of a permanent order restraining Nicholas F. Molnar, Mrs. Myra W. Dobbs and her daughter, Mrs. Clara Stevens, from evicting Walter T. McConnell from a two-family house.

The WPB intervened in the case after Mrs. Stevens filed an eviction action in municipal court against McConnell a war-worker, who lived in the house since December, 1943.

allow a margin above cost equal to the average of the years 1943, 1939, 1940.

The War Manpower Commission today outlined plans for a gradual easing of controls over workers "as rapidly as circumstances permit."

But, Chairman Paul V. McNutt said, general relaxations must await Japan's defeat.

First effects of a so-called "transitional post-V-E Day program" will be felt in areas where manpower is adequate.

Known as groups 3 and 4, WMC directors in these areas may lift controls immediately after consulting with local management-labor committees.

The 48-hour week will be maintained on an industry-wide basis "only as long as it is required to meet labor shortages," McNutt said. Textiles, logging and lumbering and non-ferrous metal mining will be among the last industries to be removed from the longer work week.

The 48-hour week will be revoked for the steel industry, thus making steel plants subject to the same work as other plants in the same areas.

PREPARATIONS FOR BOND RALLY ARE COMPLETE

Workers Listed Partially As Bricker Is Scheduled To Speak Here

Preparations for the War Bond Rally at which John W. Bricker is to speak at 8:30 P. M. in the high school auditorium Friday, were virtually completed as township and ward chairmen increased their efforts to fill out their lists of workers.

That some of those lists already were on their way to completion was evidenced by chairmen of three of the four Washington C. H. city wards.

George Trimmer and Dewey Sheidler, chairmen of ward one, have submitted this list of workers: Leonard Korn, Glendon Yerran, Kenneth Craig, Mrs. Homer Garringer, Mrs. Henry Brownell, Robert Terhune, John Shepard, David Driesbach, Mrs. Frank Christopher, Mrs. E. E. Johnson, David Feagans, Paul Elliott, Clark Pensly, Mrs. Dewey Sheidler, Ed Hidy, Mrs. Chan Hyer, Mrs. G. A. Handley, Mrs. Frank Hays, Mrs. Haskell Thompson, Kathleen Stookey, Mrs. Sherman Belles and Miss Carrie Gross.

Ward two chairmen, Walter Rettig and M. L. Clark, already have the pledges to work of Harold McCord, Gene McLean, Paul Van Voorhis, Elmore McCoy, Charles Reinke, Loren Wilson and A. H. Newberry.

The third ward with George Pensly and C. R. Philhower as chairmen, has listed W. L. Stambaugh, Emmett Passmore, Howard S. Harper, T. Harold Craig, Jr., R. S. Sanderson, Arthur Madux, Howard Fogle, Allen E. White, C. F. Lucas, Edwin Ducey, Joseph Harper, George L. Gosard, C. P. McConaughy and George Hall as volunteer salesmen.

No names have yet been turned in by Ambrose Elliott and Mac Dews, chairmen of ward four. It was emphasized that all the lists are incomplete and will be expanded as the $749,000 drive gains emphasis.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT GRACE CHURCH

Thanksgiving To Be Theme of Sunday Service

In accordance with the request of President Harry S. Truman, a service of thanksgiving and remembrance will be held Sunday at 10 A. M. at Grace Methodist Church.

Rev. George B. Parkin, the pastor, said a service was arranged "whereby we can give thanks to almighty God for the victory given us by the heroic and sacrificing service of our gallant fighting men." The public is invited to the service.

CPL. KENNETH EDWARDS FUNERAL IS WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Cpl. Kenneth Edwards, who died at Torrance General Hospital in California, will be held Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the Graumlick and Sons Funeral Home in Columbus. Burial will be in the Johnstown Cemetery.

Cpl. Edwards was the nephew of Miss Amy Edwards of Bloomington.

In 1923, there were 23,653 veterans' treatment in veterans' hospitals or other federal agencies.

A CALL TO WORSHIP AND THANKSGIVING. To the Negro Citizens of Washington C. H.

Pursuant to the proclamation of the President of the United States, Harry S. Truman, in the observance of Sunday, May 13th, as a day of prayer and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the victory and cessation of the war in Europe, may I lead for all my people to heed the importance of this request, to attend the church of your choice and make it a special go-to-church-day. There, thank God that death and destruction is ended in that particular part of the world and at the same time pray for a peace that did not end with the laying down of arms.

Above all others and else, we are indebted to God and should thus reverence this day.

All are invited to 2nd Baptist services Sunday, 11 o'clock A. M. and 7:45 P. M. F. L. REYNOLDS, pastor.

JUST A FRIENDLY CHAT
Faith in Christ in its deepest and broadest sense is sometimes very costly. The price may be friends, or influence, or reputation, or money—but no cost is too great. Our Savior already has paid more for us than the uncalculated wealth of the discovered and undiscovered universes combined. Sacrifice must be a joy for us when called upon to make it out of love and loyalty to Christ. Faith is a firm and sure knowledge of the Divine favor in you, founded on the truth of a free promise in Christ, and revealed to your mind, and sealed in your heart by the Holy Spirit. If you hear the gospel, repent of your sins, confess Christ, and be baptized into Christ, you are then in Christ when you are in Christ you are a New Creature—a Christian and saved. To become saved is to have the past forgiven, new life for the present, and assurance for the future. If you are saved you have a plan and a purpose, a will and a way—something to live for—something to die for. If you are lost, you have neither plan, purpose, will or way—nothing to live for, nothing to die for. Friends, after you become saved the same Christ who saved you from wrath to begin with, saves you from sin to go on with, and will keep you safe to glory to end with. Salvation is His offer to you, all you need to do is to stretch forth the empty hand of faith and take it as a gift from the nail pierced hand of the Lord Jesus. God invites and beseeches you to accept a free, full and present Salvation. Has Jesus been invited to reign in your heart? Don't. Oh, no, don't allow Satan to lull you to sleep in the cradle of a false security. Time is short and eternity is at hand. Will you, can you, dare you, one moment longer remain unsaved? "Behold, now is the accepted time, behold, now is the day of Salvation"—tomorrow may be too late. The dark thunder clouds of God's wrath are hanging over your head and if you remain in your present position the voice from Heaven may sound forth, "Thou foul, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." Delay not, be sure and safe—you will regret your folly forever, if you are not saved.

Not Too Late—Yet

It is certainly no exaggeration to say that everyone in the country is familiar with rationing. During these war years, practically all of us at one time or another have waited for the wheels within wheels of officialdom to allot us necessities. As necessary as this has been, it is useless for any friend of bureaucracy to claim that the waiting and the filling out of blanks and forms has not been a drag on precious resources and energy. One hundred and thirty million Americans know better! Shiploads of gasoline, thousands of tires, and millions of man-hours have been expended or lost by consumers in responding to the demands of government agencies.

Familiarity with the waste and slow-down effect of bureau regulation may be a blessing. It may result in easier riddance of the system when the war emergency ends. Consumers may heed the warnings of retailers and others who must run businesses under its dead weight. This regulation is so complete that any retailer will tell you the only responsibility left to him in regard to his store is that of holding the sack to meet taxes, bills or bankruptcy. Not only is he regulated in every detail, but he lives with the constant reminder (on countless blanks), that heavy penalties and jail are ever present possibilities. He will tell you that modern mass distribution which has helped give consumers an unprecedented high standard of living, cannot survive this type of regulation in peacetime—and neither can the freedom of the American people.

The wartime emergency rule of the federal bureaus must end within a reasonable time after peace, or it will grow until the people have no power to remove it.

Now for The Garden

The Victory in Europe has been won, the days of celebration are over, the sun is high in the heavens and the ground, even in the coldest states, is ready for the seed. Now is the time to get really busy on the garden.

If this is indeed, in Willie's phrase, One World, the food situation has to be considered in global terms. From now till the harvest of 1946 there will not be enough food to go around. The tightest pinch is likely to come this year. Many men liberated from the fighting forces in Europe will be able to go back to farms and factories to restore what they can of normal food production. That is good, but it is already too late for adequate crops in 1945. Livestock has been depleted. This year will make a start. It will take another seedtime and harvest to end the war against hunger.

Corn on the cob, lima beans, tomatoes, are needed in our gardens, as well as many other foods of use and enjoyment. On with spade and hoe.

The German Problem

The great war against German arrogance and oppression is over at last, and that problem is settled. Or is it really solved now, any more than it was at the close of the last world war?

Will the Germans honestly accept the verdict of armed force and the world's condemnation of predatory violence, or will the German leaders and their followers "play possum" as they did before, merely biding their time and nursing their revenge until they can grow strong again?

The Allied Nations must not forget that the Germans are a warlike race, given to the use of armed force even as they were in ancient days, when they rose again and again to hurl their power against the civilized Roman Empire. Even with their outward adoption of modern life, they have continued tribal and predatory.

They will yield now, as they have yielded so often before, to superior force, but not to superior culture and ethics. When overpowered, their leaders adopt the cynical and vengeful pose which says by implication: "Oh, yes, you win now—but this is not the end of the argument, and the next time we shall prevail." It is almost as if the fate of the civilized world, generation after generation, should be regarded as a mere football game.

There must be an end to such flagrant defiance of modern civilization and such irresponsible meddling with the fate of the world.

Ball Hall Enlarged

The baseball Hall of Fame at Coopers-town, N. Y., has received ten new names, voted on by sports writers just after it looked as if the election machinery were breaking down. At the last election no one got enough votes, and at the previous vote in 1942 only Rogers Hornsby.

Now ten have been elected at one swoop, all old-timers or nearly so. Only Fred Clarke, the Pittsburgh outfielder and manager, and Roger Bresnahan, the catcher who used shinguards, were playing as late as 1910. Hugh Jennings was managing Detroit, and Wilbert Robinson managed Brooklyn. Jimmy Collins had ceased to guard third base only two years previously.

The patriarchs of the game made up the other five: Dan Brouthers and Ed Delahanty, unequalled hitters both; King Kelly, whose name survived in the old cry, "Slide, Kelly, slide!" Jim O'Rourke, who in his 50's was still playing second base for New Haven, Conn., with his son at third, and Hugh Duffy, who at 77 is still a coach and scout for the Boston Red Sox.

Anyone who wonders if these oldsters were so much should name anyone today who made seven consecutive hits in one game, like Robinson, or, like Duffy, batted for .438 and hit four homers in one game.

A Way To Cure Nosebleed

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOST nosebleeds come from some simple cause. A blow on the nose is frequently responsible. Many times recurrent nosebleed is due merely to picking the nose. Of course, when repeated nosebleeds develop, the physician should be consulted, since it may be a symptom of a rather serious condition, such as high blood pressure, tumors in the nose, or infections in the nose.

However, in most instances, it will be noted that the blood is coming from the same blood vessel each time the attack of nosebleed or epistaxis occurs. Doctor Samuel L. Fox, of Baltimore, believes that this type of nosebleed may be simply treated by injecting a scar-producing solution into the tissues beneath the bleeding point.

If the patient is first seen when active bleeding is occurring, some clotting substance, such as blood plasma, may be applied to the bleeding point to stop the hemorrhage. Then several days later, the sclerosing or scarifying material is injected.

However, it is found frequently that when a chemical is applied, the blood washes it away so that the bleeding is not effectively controlled in all instances. Hence, Doctor Fox thinks that the scarifying solution may be injected at once just beneath the bleeding point. The solution may stretch the lining membrane of the blood vessel from which the blood is coming and produce enough pressure to control the hemorrhage.

In carrying out the treatment by injection of scar-producing solution, the lining membrane of the nose is first anesthetized or deadened with a local anesthetic, on a piece of cotton applied firmly against the bleeding area for several minutes. The cotton is then rapidly withdrawn from the nose and a sodium psyllate solution is injected into the lining membrane of the blood vessel just beneath the point that is bleeding. If the bleeding is controlled in this way nothing further is done.

If the bleeding is not controlled, another injection is given after a few minutes. Doctor Fox has never found that more than two injections are necessary. Should this treatment fail, as it might in a rare instance, the nose may be packed with cotton which is left in place for twenty-four hours.

Sometimes varicose or dilated veins may be noted on the septum which divides the two sides of the nose. In order to keep bleeding from occurring, it is suggested that these blood vessels also be treated with a sclerosing solution.

Doctor Fox has treated more than 100 patients, both children and adults, for recurrent or acute nosebleed, by injecting a scar-forming solution at the site of the bleeding point, and has had excellent results in each case. No harmful effects were noted in any instance.

The patient may have a feeling of fullness in the nose and perhaps watering of the eyes or some sneezing when the treatment is carried out, but these symptoms quickly pass away.

It would appear that this method of controlling recurrent nosebleed is useful and easily applied.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

Stephen was stowing away their belongings in the back of the car. "Father and Miss Thayer are both having a picnic," he said. "And there seems to be nothing anyone can do to stop either of them."

"I only hope," Gail said fervently, "that it doesn't come to trial. It's bad for the hospital, for me, and for your father—even though he is the great Doctor McCormick—"

"You're quite right," Stephen said. "But Father is difficult under ordinary circumstances, and now that he feels himself insulted, there is no stopping him. His pride won't allow Reyna Thayer to get away with it."

"What a mess!" Gail sighed. "Well, let's forget about it." She drove the car downtown, turning into the slums. Here she stopped before a grocery.

"We're not picnicking here?" Stephen said. "It's rather a high dive to the river."

"No," she said, laughing. "I forgot to warn you I had an errand. This is the only grocery open Sundays."

She came out, staggering under a load of groceries. "These are for a patient of mine," she said. "Incidentally, I haven't thanked you for your kindness to Mary Berend."

He had not only paid for the diaper service as Gail had requested, but was taking care of Mary's food and rent until she could get on her feet.

"I hate being thanked," he said simply. "I wish you'd let me know what else I can do."

While she went into the ramshackle house, Stephen sat in the car, smoking. Being with Gail had started a train of memories: There'd been a number of girls in his life—that full, varied life which had ended the decisive day he signed up as an ambulance driver.

His mother had always been charming to his girls, too, when he brought them home, either to the flat in Paris or to the villa in Cannes.

The first girl he'd ever been serious about was a fragile, blonde Viennese, Maria, whom he met the summer his mother took the cure at Baden. She was so strictly chaperoned that they could not even take a walk alone. He was desperately in love with her, but her family married her to a Prussian army officer. . . . He'd met her again in Paris in 1937. At twenty-five, she was matronly, and she talked endlessly about Hitler's virtues. . . .

There were other girls: Pamela, who'd been a crack tennis player and the best sportswoman he'd ever known. Pamela, Margaret, Bianca—they were all gay companions, good friends, but they never became important to him. Perhaps it was because the shadow on Europe's horizon was so hateful, so ominously important.

When Hitler marched into Poland, Stephen was in Paris, but scheduled to sail for the United States in a few days. He tried unsuccessfully to persuade his mother to return with him.

"I have nothing to return to, chéri," she said, "but you must go. Eventually, your country will need you."

That was the last time Stephen had seen her. His memory of her, standing at the tall, arched window in her drawing room, would remain with him forever. "This time, Stephen, I hope you will try to see your father. . . ." She'd always wanted to make his father's character clear to him, but her efforts hadn't been successful.

Well, he was living with his father now and his once harsh estimate of his parent was tinged with pity, with the terrifying compassion that the young feel for the old. . . .

His thoughts were not pleasant, and he was relieved to see Gail coming back to the car, followed by a couple of rather dirty children.

"Mrs. Herendeen—the grandmother of these youngsters—is a patient of mine," she explained. "Has varicose veins and it's pretty tough for her to get around to earn what little money she does."

"Do you worry about all your patients' finances?" he asked.

"I can't seem to help it." She smiled ruefully. "My colleagues at the hospital rag me about it. They say all women doctors are busy-bodies and interfere too much with their patients' lives. But I believe that you can't dissociate a patient's illness from his background—"

They were driving along the River Basin Drive now, which was almost deserted.

"There's a pine grove near here," Gail said, "on the bluff overlooking the river. You can climb down the rocks to the water to swim. I thought we might have our picnic there."

They parked the car presently and found a secluded spot for the picnic. They changed into bathing suits and went down to the river bank. Gail was a fearful swimmer, but she acquired a sense of confidence simply from watching Steve. Despite his injured right shoulder and arm, he swam beautifully.

Afterwards, they climbed back to their nest and sunned themselves. Stephen said, "A perfect, peaceful day like this, makes one feel guilty when there's so much death and destruction in the world."

"I know—" She turned face down on the checked blanket. The sunlight brought out the purple tints in her hair, the perfection of her skin. "Do you suppose when this war's over, we'll really have a better world, with fewer Mary Berends and Nina Sermalinas?"

"I'm sure of it," he said.

The faint wind made music in the pines, and the water below seemed to take up the rhythm. But despite the warm sun and serene atmosphere, Gail found herself thinking again about Reyna Thayer. "I'm worried," she murmured.

"About what?" Stephen asked.

"The mess between Reyna and your father. I hope it has no serious repercussions."

"Stop thinking about it," he said. "Forget all your patients and tell me something about yourself. About medical school, for instance."

"There isn't much to tell," she answered. "There certainly was nothing glamorous about it, just hard work and long hours. I remember passing out cold at sight of my first operation, and—"

"What about marriage?" he interrupted. "Does that fit into your scheme of life?"

"Indeed it does!" she declared. "Stephen leaned on his left elbow and looked down at her, half-laughingly. "Have you decided on the man?"

"I've been in love with Burke Gentry for years," she said frankly. "But we don't seem to be getting anywhere."

"Why?"

"For one thing, we are forever arguing. For another . . . he has a mother."

"So has every man," Stephen said teasingly. "To begin with, anyway."

"But Burke's mother is emotionally dependent on him, and she's making him dependent on her."

"He looks like such a decisive young man," Stephen said. "Do you mean his mother has actually kept him from marrying?"

"From marrying me, anyway."

"Good!" Stephen exclaimed. "That gives me a chance."

She turned over on her side, and smiled at him. "You're a fine cheer-upper, Steve," she said, "but I'm sure that privately you have other plans!"

He laughed and picked up the bottle of lotion and gave her back a fresh application. He said, "I still think it's unwise of Mr. Gentry to leave you alone Sundays."

Gail sat up swiftly. "Let's take another swim!"

He caught her hand in his. "Running away, Doctor Benton?"

"No. Just being sensible." Her blue eyes were clear and honest as they looked into his. "One needs to be a doctor to realize that when two people are alone, and filled with good food, and the sunshine's warm—"

"Are you sure it's only that?" His grasp tightened. His mouth came down firmly on hers. After a while he repeated, "Are you still sure?"

Her heart was pounding, but she answered coolly. "I'm sure. And the swim is a doctor's order, Steve."

"SERMONS"

True religion doth clear the mind from all impotent and unsatisfiable desires which do abuse and toss a man's soul and make it restless and inquiet. It sets a man free from eager and tempestuous loves, from vain and disappointing hopes, from lawless and exorbitant appetites, from frothy and empty joys, from dismal presaging fears and anxious self-devouring cares. There is nothing more unnatural to religion than contentions about it. The longest sword, the strongest lungs, the most voices are false measures of truth.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—It isn't very often a politician publicly rakes the member of his own party over the coals.

But that is exactly what Rep. Charles Marion LaFollette of Evansville, Ind., did to his Republican colleagues on the floor of the house the other day.

The 47-year-old redhead is one of the more liberal members of his party and very popular with all but the diehards on both sides of the aisle. He chose for his diatribe the closing debate on the proposed constitutional amendment to approve treaties by a majority of the house and senate (rather than two-thirds of the senate plus one, as is now the case). Both Republican and Democrats (though not all of either) applauded his words.

"Let me say to my Republican friends that it is time we began to think and act in here as though we expected to elect a President some day," said Mr. LaFollette.

"All of these arguments we hear are negative arguments of people who refuse to act constructively, of people who want constantly to hedge around an executive."

The Congressman argued that, starting with Gov. Alf Landon in 1936, the Republicans had put forward three candidates, each more progressive than the party delegation in Congress in preceding years, and that the voters recognized this fact.

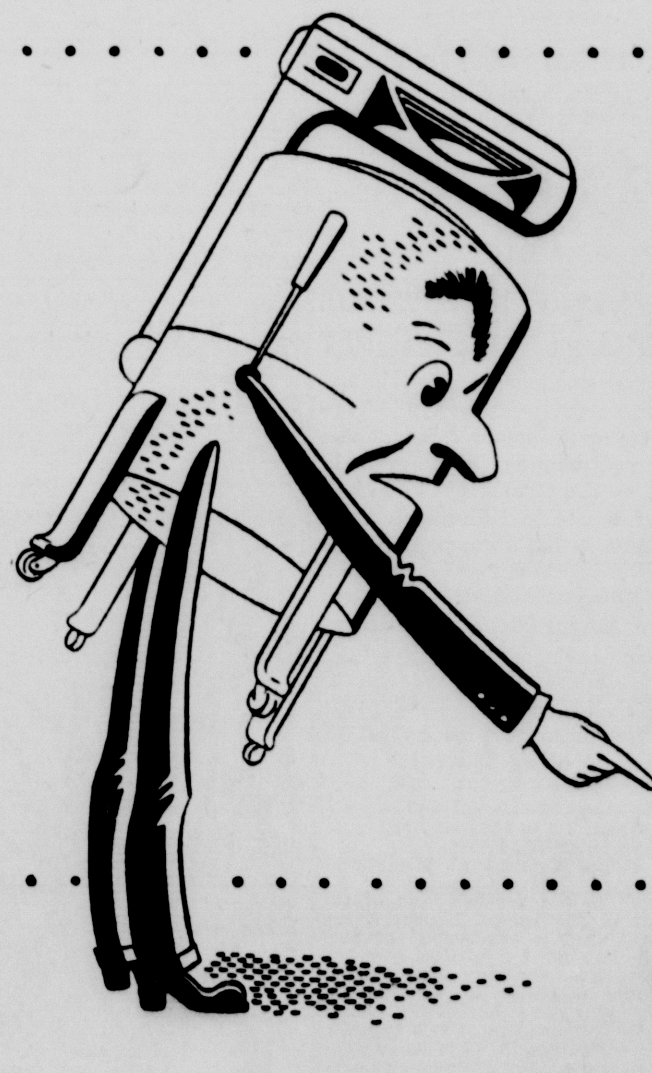

"If this party in the Congress continues its opposition to all changes and continues to offer no constructive program, calculated to channel the progressive forces at work in the world, it will never elect a President. It will crucify every candidate for President upon the record his party has made in the four years preceding his candidacy," Rep. LaFollette concluded.

Although the representative from Indiana is serving only his second term in the house, he already has gained a reputation for plain speaking that matches his red hair.

Not long ago, when some colleague was holding forth sentimentally on "our boys overseas," LaFollette took the floor and said flatly that such nauseous play on sentimentalities made him want to retch.

A strong proponent of President Roosevelt's Fair Employment Practices committee and a crusader for equal rights for all races and creeds, LaFollette is popular with organized labor. Some time ago, he took a month off to study economics and labor problems at first hand in England and liberated France.

LaFollette is third cousin of the better-known LaFollette of Wisconsin. In less than three years in the house he has demonstrated that the branch of the family has no corner on the blood of political independence.

Most Common Crime Against WASHERS

Of all the crimes committed against electric washers—and wringers, too—the most common is overloading. All electric washers are designed for specified capacity loads, and equipped with electric horsepower to wash clothes beautifully clean when operated accordingly.

No washer can do its best work if packed so tightly that the suds can't do its work. And the best of washers and wringers will have shorter lives if persistently overloaded. Better sort clothes for an additional running period and keep your faithful helper working at top efficiency. What would you do if a breakdown couldn't be repaired?

It's good home management and patriotic homemaking to watch this important point, no matter who "bosses" the "electrical help" at your house.

12 Tables of Guests Attend Bridge - Tea

One of the prettiest and entertaining May parties being currently held at the Country Club was a bridge-tea entertained by Mrs. Frank Little on Thursday afternoon when she assembled eleven tables of guests for bridge and one table of five hundred. The hospitable hostess used a patriotic theme in decorating the club lounge for the occasion and the tallies were inscribed with patriotic motifs, further carrying out the decorative theme.

Three out-of-town guests were Mrs. Homer Cherry, Mrs. Virgil Little and Mrs. Joe Theismen, all of Greenfield, who were included in the especially keen competition at the bridge tables.

Mrs. Sam Parrett, Mrs. M. J. Hagerty and Mrs. M. J. Whitfield were the trio of guests who were rewarded with bridge prizes at the conclusion of the bridge competition. Five hundred prize went to Mrs. Eph Worthington.

Mrs. Glenn Rodgers and Mrs. Frank Jackson presided at the patriotically decorated tea table from which a varied assortment of tea delicacies were dispensed. Red, white and blue tapers in crystal candelabras flanked a colorful watergarden of spring flowers in harmonizing shades.

The guests chatted during the remaining hours of the afternoon and as they departed, each expressed her appreciation for the fine entertainment so cordially extended by the gracious hostess.

Pythian Sisters Inspected in Jeffersonville

The annual inspection of the White Hawthorne Temple Pythian Sisters was held at the K. of P. Hall in Jeffersonville Thursday evening with 32 members and guests present.

The hall was artistically decorated with baskets of spring flowers from the members' gardens carrying out the Pythian Sisters' colors of white, red, blue and yellow, and the dainty white dotted swiss formal of the officers and degree staff made a very pleasing picture.

Mrs. Alta Garlo of Springfield was the inspecting officer and she gave the temple a grade of 99.75 for excellency in their work.

Officers exemplified in their work were: Past Chief, Mrs. Emma Ritenour; Most Excellent Chief, Mrs. Lillie Mae Rings; Excellent Senior, Mrs. Edith Knox; Excellent Junior, Mrs. Margaret Morrow; Manager, Mrs. George Powell; Mistress of Records and Correspondence, Mrs. Juanita Barlett; Mistress of Finance, Mrs. Glenna Robinson; Protector, Mrs. Doris Garringer; Guard, Mrs. Hazel Smith; Captain of Degree Staff, Mrs. Edna Swamey; Pianist, Miss Sara Skyles; Mistress of Works, Mrs. Alpha Van Gundy.

Candidates were: Mrs. Lucille B. Coe, Jamestown; Mrs. Marie Thompson, Mrs. Pricilla Brown, Mrs. Edith Sharrett and Miss Christina McAlliff.

Mrs. Mary J. Kemp presented the deputy with a dainty gift, after which refreshments were served from a prettily appointed table in patriotic colors with a centerpiece of flags of the United Nations. Mrs. Maxine Little was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Among the distinguished guests from Springfield, Bloomington and Washington C. H. was Grand Protector Mrs. Lillian Jones of Springfield.

Society Observes Mothers' Day

Twenty-five Elmwood Aid Society members met with Mrs. Losson Wells on Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Henry Hoppes and daughter, of Dayton, were included as guests for the business meeting and program.

President, Mrs. Floyd Tracey, opened the meeting and devotions were given by Mrs. B. H. Crouse. The oldest and youngest mothers present, Mrs. Mary Combs and Mrs. Henry Hoppes, were presented handkerchiefs as gifts in observance of Mothers' Day which will be celebrated Sunday, May 13. Mrs. Frank Morris gave a reading entitled "Mothers' Day," and Mrs. Jessie Thompson, "U.S.A." Mrs. Robert Clouser read "Honor To Our Mothers."

The serving of refreshments by the hostess and her assistants concluded the pleasurable afternoon. Those assisting Mrs. Wells were Mrs. B. H. Crouse, Mrs. Frank Morris, Mrs. Lizzie Powless, Mrs. Robert Clouser and Mrs. Jessie Thompson.

Two Prizes Are Awarded at Bridge Club

White tapers in crystal candelabras flanked a watergarden in the center of the dining room table when Mrs. Thomas Christopher served a tempting salad course to her bridge club at the conclusion of the evening of bridge.

Informal chatting during the enjoyment of the appetizing viands was prolonged until a late hour. Earlier, bridge awards had been presented to Mrs. Carroll Halliday and Mrs. Leonard Korn.

Mrs. Hook Is Hostess to Club Thursday

Mrs. W. R. Hook was hostess to the Thursday Kensington Club which met at Margaret Caldwell's Party Home.

The guests spent an extremely pleasant afternoon chatting and sewing after which refreshments were served at the dining room table and small card tables. Dainty spring flowers from Mrs. Hook's garden were used to center the tables. Mrs. Carl Mallow was included as a guest.

Clubs Combine For Party

Thirty-one members of the Girl Reserves and the Hi-Y Clubs of the Bloomington High School were in attendance at a jolly picnic supper held at the Fireside Inn.

After enjoying a fine assortment of picnic food, the group participated in dancing for the remainder of the evening. Mrs. Elton Elliott and Mrs. Willard Bitzer, faculty members of the Bloomington High School, were chaperons for the group.

B. P. W. C. Club Dinner Meet Thursday evening, the Sunny-side Inn was the scene of the May dinner meeting of the Past President's Club, Business and Professional Women when Miss Helen Slavens was the hostess.

During the serving and enjoyment of the dinner, informal discussions of club business affairs and activities took place.

100 Sophomores And Guests Enjoy Annual Picnic

One-hundred sophomore students and teachers of the Washington C. H. High School faculty assembled in the high school gymnasium, Thursday evening, where the annual sophomore picnic was held due to the inclemency of the weather. Supt. A. B. Murray and Mrs. Murray as well as Principal Stephen C. Brown were included as guests.

Preceding the supper hour a well-rounded program of ping-pong, dancing to the music of records and informal games were provided. At that time a grand march led by G. B. Vance proceeded to the home economics room where a bountiful variety of picnic food was served. It had been prepared by Mrs. Charles Severs.

After the informal dinner hour a variety program was presented by members of the class in the gymnasium. This had been arranged by the entertainment committee whose co-chairmen were Mareta Craig and Marilyn Milner, assisted by Bill Dowler, Vivian Timberman, Don Stevens and Charlene Hatfield. The program included piano numbers, solos, quartettes and was climaxed by the appearance of the sophomore band.

Class officers are: president, Bill Hughes; vice-president, Bill Davis; secretary, David Adams; treasurer, Joann Arnold. The various committees along with the sophomore home room teachers and the class sponsor, Miss Kathleen Davis, planned the party. Those assisting were Mrs.

75 Girl Reserves Attend Annual Senior Breakfast

Approximately seventy-five Girl Reserve members of both the junior and senior clubs of Washington C. H. High School assembled at the Gardner Park Field House early Thursday morning for the annual breakfast which honors the senior members of the club.

An appetizing prepared variety of appropriate viands were served buffet style in the spacious lounge of the field house. A blazing fire in the huge fireplace at one end of the room was a popular spot with the congenial group who look forward to this occasion each year. The vivacious young girls in their colorful spring frocks made a gala picture as they visited throughout an informal breakfast hour.

Under the supervision of the advisor, Miss Marjorie Evans, of the high school faculty, an installation service for the newly-elected officers took place. During the impressive ceremony Ruth Adams, retiring senior president, turned over her office to the new senior club president, Nancy Devins; Jane Riber, junior club president to Joanne Browning; Helen McCoy, vice-president of the senior club to Kathryn Foster; Nancy Devins, senior secretary to Shirley Sue Hayes; Georgianna Griffith, senior program chairman to Joan Arnold; Mary Loraine Boylan, junior program chairman to Jean Spencer. The remainder of the officers for both the junior and senior clubs will be elected at the initial session of the clubs next fall.

Both Miss Devins and Miss Browning made brief and appropriate remarks. Girls who have received Girl Reserve rings in other years as rewards for outstanding service are Harriett Braun, Norma Coe, Ruth Adams, Janice Murray, Beverly Long, Jean Willis. Thursday morning Jane Riber, Helen McCoy, Nancy Devins, Doris Brandenburg, Claire Francis Campbell, Virginia Mark, Betty Chaney, June Cook, Janice Fogle and Georgianna Griffith were presented with rings. Newly-elected officers of both clubs were on the committee.

Oliver Woodyard, Mrs. Loreah O'Brian, Miss Janet Allen and Mr. Omar Sturgeon.

Baseball Double Feature Here Sunday Markets and Finance

Baseball fans are going to get a double feature at Wilson Field Sunday afternoon, just because the managements of two teams here—Eagles and Moose—got mixed up in their schedule making.

The Eagles, with four wins behind them, booked a game with the Springfield Eagle Toolers for 2:30 P. M. and the Moose, billed a team from Catalpa, near Springfield, for their inaugural at the same time and place.

Everything was going along just dandy until Friday morning when the light suddenly broke through at both headquarters.

—Spying—

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—A little of the Dodger influence can go a long way, as witness the plight of Storm Nickerson of New Paltz, N. Y., hurler for Brooklyn's Piedmont League farm at Newport News, Va. (where they built the press box backwards).

When Nickerson was yanked in the first game of last Sunday's doubleheader at Lynchburg, he followed the prescribed routine of going to the showers. In Lynchburg they're outside the ball park.

Storm dressed hurriedly and returned to see how his teammates were faring. He goes as far as the gate, where attendants barred his way and insisted on a ticket.

Storm stormed to no avail, insisting that he was a Dodger in good standing, but he finally had to dig down and buy a pastebord.

He got back into the park just in time to learn he had been charged with losing the game.

One Minute Sports Page

Commissioner Eddie Eagen reports there hasn't been a draw in a New York fight since his point scoring system was made official and that the judges show surprising uniformity in scoring the rounds.

Frank Graham's informal history of the Dodgers, one of the most entertaining baseball books to come out in a long time, will be on sale next week.

Jetson Arnold, A.A.U. lightweight champ who'll make his pro debut May 21, and his brother Billy, headliner on the same card, both are students at Philadelphia's Ben Franklin High School. The modern Franklin apparently has discovered that a good punch carries as much shock as electricity.

Iceland's all star basketballers repeated in the G-I G-I (other-wise Greenland-Iceland service) playoff for the North Atlantic title recently, winning two games 54-39 and 63-48.

The six-man pitching staff at Maxwell Field, Ala., can boast a 93-17 won-lost record for the players' last season of competition. The only ex-major leaguer in the lot is George Turbeville of the Athletics.

There was some frantic telephoning and conferring it was too late to do much shifting; so, a virtue was made of the necessity and an agreement was reached in true fraternal and cooperative spirit to put on the doubleheader.

The Eagles and Toolers probably will take the field first with game time moved up to as near one o'clock as possible. The Moose and Catalpa boys will play the nightcap.

Eagles Face Toolers

The Eagle baseball team and fans, flushed by an unexpected win from the tough Springfield Coca Colas here last Sunday, will be going after their fourth straight victory of the young season next Sunday when they take on the Eagle Tool club, also from Springfield, at Wilson Field.

Just when the Eagles were patting themselves on the back for their defeat of the Coca Colas with a feeling that this was one of the best, if not the best teams, that Springfield had, they had their ego jarred with some round-about reports that the Toolers are even better. While, anyone's appraisal of a baseball team is always debatable, the Eagles are inclined to reflect on the way Alex (Lefty) Wackman tied up the Coca Cola batters with his fast ball and take heart.

The crowd that just about filled every seat in the bleachers and overflowed along the edges last Sunday, is expected to be bettered when the Eagles and Toolers take the field. Eagle supporters were frankly as surprised over the size of the turnout as they were over the 5 to 2 win—but no more of that, for they now have confidence, not only in their ball team, which showed both speed in the field and power at the plate, but also in its ability to draw good games.

Two or three explanations are being offered for the size of the

COON DOG FIELD TRIAL OPENER HERE SUNDAY

If the turnout, the enthusiasm and the fun that accompanied the coon dog field trial curtain raiser two weeks ago can be taken as a criterion, the regular opening trial slated for next Sunday holds promise of more than the same.

To be held on the Johnson-Kyle land, just north of Buena Vista, where the first one was run, Sunday's event will be strictly for seasoned and veteran dogs, a committee spokesman said. The preliminary meet, with its emphasis on green dogs, paved the way for the coming one and, what is more, gave several young dogs a chance to prove themselves worthy of advanced competition.

Last year the biggest meet brought out 123 dogs. While this season's opener is not expected to do that well, committeemen are confident there will be in the neighborhood of four score of entries. Purses totalling $100

BROWN HURLS NO-HIT GAME AS JEFF WINS

Jeffersonville's junior southpaw pitcher, Brown, hurled a no-hit-no-run game against London when the Jeff diamondmen traveled to the neighboring town.

The Jeff nine won 9-0—grabbing all nine of their runs in the first four frames of the seven-inning game. They collected 13 hits from the corps of pitchers the London squad threw at them in an effort to stem the Jeffersonville rush.

Brown handled the bigger London squad like a master. He pitched the entire game while the Londoners put a trio of mounds-men in an effort to stop him.

Ping-Pong Crown Donned by Reno

Marlyn Reno today is the ping-pong champion of the Teen Age Club after defeating Bob Craig two out of three games in the finals of the tournament played off Thursday night.

The first two games were overtime—Reno won the first 24-22 and Craig the second 23-21. In the last game, Craig just couldn't get back into his championship form, however, and Reno won 21-8.

The first prize was $2 and the second $1.

have been set aside by the Fayette County Coon Hunters Association, which sponsors the trials.

The field trials serve two main purposes, association officers have explained: (1) provide outdoor sport and recreation during the summer closed season and (2) help build up the fund for restocking the county with coon.

The first heat in Sunday's trial is to start from near the crossroad east of the highway to Buena Vista at noon. The finish will be in the woods along the bank of Rattlesnake Creek not far from the bridge.

All of the old frills, plus a few new ones, have been arranged for Sunday's affair. With the thought that it will provide an outing for the whole family, picnic spots have been brushed off and locations for soft drink and sandwich stands spotted. Much for the added attractions, however, admittedly depends on the weather. Chill winds and rain, admittedly, are not exactly conducive to frolicking under the trees, but it would take a lot to discourage the coon hunters who were tough enough to tramp through the woods and over the fields following the dogs during the open season.

Greenfield Boy Gets Bids from 8 League Clubs

COLUMBUS, May 11.—(P)—Don Grate, who is best known for his prowess on the Ohio State University basketball court, is mulling over eight major league baseball offers.

The Yankees, Indians, Red Sox and Tigers in the American League and the Giants, Phillies, Braves and Reds in the National have offered contracts, the Buckeye pitcher said.

Grate, a junior who has a season record of three wins and two defeats, admitted he hoped to play professional ball this summer.

"One offer was for $12,000," Grate said, "but I'm still writing letters to the clubs."

DODGERS GET 'E' FOR EFFORTS

By the Associated Press

Brooklyn's tattered Bums may not mess up the National League's first division for long but as of today the Dodgers rate a large "E" for effort.

Tabbed to spend the summer wrestling with the Phillies for a comfortable corner in the cellar shade, Leo Durocher has his gang in second place within rooting distance of the leading New York Giants.

It's a patchwork ball club with outfielders Augie Galan playing first base and other positions filled by a delegation of citizens originally destined for the Montreal Farm Club. But it's winning, hitting often and not doing too badly in the field.

Even Brother Rickey must be surprised at the club's .272 batting average, what with Dixie Walker, the 1944 hitting king, at .254 and Augie Galan at .250.

Things were so tough that Durocher opened the season at second base but aching muscles and appearance of a conditioned Eddie Stanky ended that. Stanky has not made an error in 98 tries and has accounted for eight runs batted in on a .333 mark.

Arrival of Eddie Basinski, ticketed for Montreal, shoved Mike Sandlock out of shortstop and set up a second base combination that has been clicking.

Then Luis Olmo, who had been benched for wild hitting, got back in the lineup and topped a good week with eight hits in a Sunday doubleheader, taking over the league lead at .396.

Curt Davis got off to a good start with a 3-1 win record, matched by Hal Gregg, whose wildness has been tamed somewhat by veteran catcher Clyde Sukeforth. Vic Lombardi, never higher than Class B, racked up two wins, one over the Cards, and Les Webber and Otto Nitcholas each picked up a decision on relief.

The Brooks' second western test with the Cards was rained out yesterday with all the other National League games and all the American contests except a night tilt in St. Louis.

Jack Kramer hurled the Browns to a record in a row over their first eastern visitors, Washington, by a 10-2 score.

fill the one vacancy. Bob Bailey, the moving spirit behind the league organization, declined to name them until after the decision had been made.

The prospective league's schedule is slated to open May 20.

Moose To Play Catalpa

With the Eagle baseball team already in high gear with four straight wins chalked up on its books, another Washington C. H. fraternal order, the Loyal Order of Moose, is getting together a club that promises to develop some diamond rivalry all within the city limits, it has just been learned.

Still in the formative stages—but fairly well advanced—details are still a bit hazy. However, a few things stand out which give an indication of what logically may be expected.

The first is that John Johnson, who formerly managed the Eagle ball team in Marion and the Moose club at Canton, and has a background of 20 years' experience in semi-pro baseball, is to be the manager here. The second is that Charles Chaney, who is said to have been with the Brooklyn Dodgers at one time, has been lined up for the first string pitcher. A third is that Fred Myers, identified as a former Columbus Red Bird, is slated for the spot behind the bat.

Although no roster of players has been announced, Moose spokesmen have said that this battery of ex-professionals will be surrounded with a hand-picked team of local lights.

Bond Selling Sports Show Plan a Wow

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—(P)—A sports fan's dream—or nightmare—is scheduled for Shibe Park a month from today.

The Philadelphia sports committee for war bonds, the sponsors, call it "sports-go-bang."

A rough outline of the program as disclosed by Committee Chairman Bill Driscoll, sports editor of the Philadelphia Record, includes simultaneous:

Playing of 10 different games, featuring women's lacrosse and hockey teams, two professional basketball quintets on a movable court, tennis matches, plus cricket and soccer tilts.

Staging of four boxing bouts, two wrestling matches and a tug-of-war.

Exhibitions of gymnasts, rope climbers and a William Tell feat with a pretty model holding the apple.

Just to make sure there is no lull in the program, the committee is working on plans to have a parachutist drop smack-dab into the park in the middle of the festivities.

The windup will bring together the Philadelphia Athletics and the Phillies in a city championship ball game.

It is all in the interests of the Seventh War Loan drive with admission by War Bonds only.

Bradley To Retire; Florida Holdings Being Liquidated

PALM BEACH, Fla., May 11.—(P)—Col. E. R. Bradley, the 86-year-old Kentucky turfman, is retiring and has already begun to liquidate some of his holdings.

Barry Shannon, publisher of the Palm Beach Post and Times, and Bradley's representative here, said Col. Bradley stated before leaving here ten days ago he intended to retire from business.

Bradley's beach club casino here, once the scene of "sky the limit" gambling, would be torn down and the property given to the city for a public park. The Bradley-owned Embassy Club here has been sold.

Col. Bradley now lives at his Idle Hour Farm in Lexington, Ky.

Reds' Frank McCormick Now in 1-A for Draft

HAMILTON, May 11.—(P)—Butler County draft board officials said yesterday Frank McCormick, first baseman for the Cincinnati Reds, had been placed in 1-A, but indicated he would not be called for immediate induction. Margaret Ten Eyck, clerk of McCormick's board, said there was no order for his induction and that the last order for men had been filled.

NEW YORK, May 11.—(AP)—Scattered aviation, rails and industrials shifted to the recovery ranks in today's market although exceptions were plentiful.

Individual price marks were well distributed at the start and, while declines persisted, gains of fractions to a point or so predominated near the fourth hour. Dealings were relatively light.

When barbed wire was first introduced in the British Isles and America, there was strong objection to it on humanitarian grounds.

GRADUATION AROUND CORNER FOR COUNTY SENIORS

BACCALAUREATE COMMENCEMENT DATES ARE SET

Five High Schools To Have Baccalaureate Sermons On Sunday

The pomp and circumstance of graduation when the senior classes of the county high schools are in the spotlight is just around the corner with five baccalaureates scheduled for Sunday.

Commencements, senior banquets, breakfasts, dances—all of these whirl into one glorious week for the senior classes. The climax comes when solemnly wearing caps and gowns, the classes receive their diplomas.

Bloomington High School With a week's senior examinations behind them, with the senior spring dance Thursday night only a very pleasant memory, with the senior chapel Friday an even fresher memory, the 17 seniors today were looking forward to their baccalaureate services Sunday at 8 P.M. at the Bloomington Presbyterian Church.

On Monday morning, the senior breakfast is scheduled. Monday at 8:30 P.M., Thurman "Dusty" Miller will be the speaker at the commencement exercises. The seniors will have one last fling May 21 when their trip to Washington D. C. is scheduled to begin.

Madison Mills High School When the nine Madison Mills seniors march into the high school auditorium Sunday night for the baccalaureate services at 8 P.M., there will be three vacant places—places which would have been filled by Pfc. Herman Slaughter and apprentice seamen Clyde Bower and Irvin Oyer, now in the service.

Rev. J. H. Baughn is the baccalaureate speaker. Raymond J. Jeffreys is to be the speaker at commencement Tuesday at 8 P.M. also in the high school auditorium.

The nine graduates who will be present to get their diplomas are: Avenelle Butz, Billie Lou Wilson, Iris Case, Howard Seaman, Fred Schweigert, Jack Boyd, Calvin Miller, John Miller and Willard Jones.

Good Hope High School The dozen seniors at Good Hope high school will hear Rev. John K. Abernethy at their baccalaureate services Sunday at 8 P.M. slow time at the Good Hope Methodist Church. The baccalaureate services will come three days after the junior-senior banquet Thursday, at the Presbyterian Church. A theater party followed the banquet.

John W. Bachman of the public speaking department at Capital University, Columbus, will be the commencement speaker Wednesday at 8 P.M. at the Methodist Church. At that commencement, the eighth graders will get certificates of promotion presented by Mrs. Ruby Fountain; Winifred Hoppes will be awarded a State Department of Education certificate for rating fourth in the county in the senior survey test, and Nancy Hewitt will get a similar certificate for rating eighth in the county in the eighth grade tests.

Kenneth Craig, superintendent of schools, will present the diplomas to seniors—Nellie Butcher, Russell Cardiff, Lenoir Day, Helen Dunn, Eugene Dixon, Marcella Finley, Joy Kellenberger, Winifred Hoppes, Mary Kingery, Anna Belle McCoppin, Ruth Moon and Jean Rodgers.

A last day picnic is scheduled

ROY ROSS DIES SUDDENLY FRIDAY

Suffers Heart Attack While At Work Here

Roy Ross, 59, died suddenly at the Wilson Hardware Company's store at 8:30 A. M. Friday, death being due to a heart attack.

Mr. Ross had been associated with the Wilson Hardware Co. for many years, and was farm implement manager.

He arrived at the store early Friday morning and had not complained of being ill until a few moments before he suddenly collapsed, and died almost immediately. He resided at 330 Rose Avenue.

A native of Ross County, he moved to this city when a small boy, and had spent the remainder of his life here.

Mr. Ross was an active member of the Church of Christ in Christian Union for 38 years, and had been a member of the board of trustees for years. He was chairman of the board.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by two sons; Rev. Earl G. Ross, who is now engaged in Red Cross work at Great Bend, Kansas, and Everett, of Dayton. One granddaughter, two sisters; Mrs. Dorothy Doughty, of Columbus; Mrs. Gladys Ray, Dayton; three brothers—William and Clyde, of Dayton and Ira, of Springfield, also survive.

Funeral arrangements in charge of the Klever Funeral Home have not been completed.

Friends may call at the late residence after noon Saturday.

LEGAL NOTICE

Roy Booker, who resides at 1828 Highland Place, Indianapolis, Indiana, and Donzella Butler, who resides at 2410 North Oxford Street, Indianapolis, Indiana, will take notice that Mac Dews, administrator of the Estate of Burl Booker, deceased, filed his petition in the Probate Court of Fayette County, Ohio, on the 8th day of December, 1944, alleging that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts and the charges of administering his estate; that he died seized in fee simple of the undivided one-half interest in the following described real estate, situated in the Township of Union, County of Fayette, and State of Ohio, and bounded and described as follows:

First Tract: Beginning at a stake in a Township road, corner to Wm. Bennington; thence with the line of said Bennington N. 2 1/2 deg. W. 16 poles to a stake at corner to said Bennington; thence S. 77 deg. W. 9.90 poles to a stake in the center of a proposed Township road; thence S. 2 deg. E. 16 poles to a stake at the intersection of the said proposed road; thence 77 deg. E. 10 poles to the place of beginning, containing 159 1/5 sq. poles and being part of Wm. White Survey No. 1359.

E. 5 poles to a stake; thence E. 1 1/2 deg. W. 16 poles to a stake; thence S. 76 1/2 deg. W. 5 poles to a stake also corner to Lot No. 1; thence with the east line of said Lot S. 1 1/2 deg. E. 16 poles to the place of beginning, containing 80 sq. poles and being a part of Wm. White Survey No. 1359.

Third Tract: Beginning at a stone in the center of a proposed county road to Eliza Jane Smith; thence N. 1/4 deg. E. 9.52 poles to a stone on said Road, corner to Eli Honnell; thence S. 88 deg. E. 25.60 poles to a stake on the West edge of a proposed township road, and corner to Norman Jones; thence S. 1 1/2 deg. E. 10.68 poles to a stake corner to said Smith; thence N. 87 deg. E. 2 1/2 poles to the beginning, containing one and sixty-two hundredths (1.62) acres.

The prayer of said petition is for a sale of all of said premises, including the above interest of said deceased, for the payment of the debts and charges aforesaid, and for all other proper orders and relief.

The persons first above mentioned will further take notice that they have been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to answer the same on or before the 30th day of June, 1945.

MAC DEWS, administrator of the Estate of Burl Booker, deceased.

LOCAL MAN WAS KILLED BY SHELL

Lieut. Dwight Beatty Buried At Ittenbach, Germany

Mrs. Dwight E. Beatty, this city, whose husband, Lieut. Beatty, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Beatty, was killed in action in Germany, April 11, met death by shellfire and was buried at Ittenbach, Germany, according to a letter received by Mrs. Beatty, who has been with Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Beatty, but will soon go to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coit Carter, of near Williamsport, temporarily.

Lieut. Beatty was first reported missing in action, and later word of his death was received here. He entered the service Dec. 1942 and had been overseas since the middle of 1944.

Following is the letter giving information regarding his death, which was received by his widow, Mrs. Martha Beatty: "Headquarters, 394th Infantry, "April 19, 1945

"Mrs. Dwight E. Beatty, "334 1-2 E. Market Street, "Washington C. H., O.

"My dear Mrs. Beatty: "I deeply regret that it is my most unpleasant duty to inform you that your husband, 2nd. Lieut. Dwight E. Beatty, Company 'I' 394th Infantry, was killed in action in Germany April 11, 1945. The officers and men of his organization join me in extending you our deepest sympathy.

"Lieut. Beatty was buried in a military cemetery at Ittenbach, Germany. Normal battlefield services were held with a Chaplain of the Protestant Faith officiating at the funeral.

"Your husband was killed by artillery shell fire during an offensive engagement in which his company participated. Dwight performed his duties in such a manner that you may well feel proud of him, and his loss is deeply regretted by his fellow servicemen. His service was a credit to himself and his country. "Again, let me repeat our sympathies are with you in this hour of sorrow.

"Sincerely yours, "J. R. Jeter, Col., "Infantry, Commanding."
